Providential Hour.

"The centenary of Methodist missions comes in a strategic and providence make conjunction in the hour of humanity's greatest need. In the providence of God, American Methodism finds the largest opportunity which has ever come to her for thristian service. Wo dare not close our eyes to the "signs of the times." We must meet this enlarged opportunity for service with an enthusiasm and loysity that will compel the largest possible service for the kingdon of God. If the manifest worldneeds do not stir our church to the largest Christian activity in this hour, the future is hopeless for us. It is the great hour for loadership for the pastors of today: It is the great hour for loadership for the pastors of today: It is the great hour for service of the laymen of the church. The cantenary comes at such a time as to give place to every man who is willing to lift in order that through Christ the world may be reconstructed. "The response to this world situation and to the world call on the part of American Methodism is most inspiring. We confidently believe that the people called Methodists will asize their opportunity and make good in this great world crisis which has come to us."

One of the most noteworthy libel suits in the history of American jurisprudence, that of Henry Ford versus the Chicago Daily Tribune for $1,000,000, was scheduled to open before Circuit Judge James G. Tucker here today.

With most of the preliminary battles already fought and decided in Illinois and Detroit courts, it is anticipated the case will come to trial with little delay. The suit has already been in the courts two and a haif years.

The case is attracting such attention, not only through the state but in many parts of the country, that the courtroom has been remodeled for the accommodation of the unusually large array of counsel, court reporters and newspaper correspondents, some 40 or more of whom are expected. Arrangements have been made for hourly transcripts of progress of the case.

It was anticipated attention of the court would be largely occupied this morning with the consideration of a brief expected from counsel for Mr. Ford and attacking the Tribune's defense. The newspaper's counsel has maintained that the alleged libeious y statements cited in the Ford suit were published incidental to the Tribune's fight for preparedness. Judge James G. AGED MAN FOUND DEAD BELIEVED ASSASSINATED

NASHVILLE, Tenn. May 12—The dead body of John H. King, 73, widower, and member of one of the most prominent families in Rutherford county, was found under a brush pile near his home at Kingwood, last by neighborhood searchers who had become alarmed over his disappearance.

Mr. King was last seen on Thursday. He was evidently assassinated when he went near his home for water. A rifle bullet through his head caused his death. He lived alone on his small farm, six miles from Murfreesboro. A coroner's jury is holding an inquest today. Relatives of the murdered man have offered $1,000 for the conviction of his slayer.

CREATE HEAVY DEMAND FOR TRI-STATE BUTTER

The local demand for butter manufactured in creameries in the Memphis territory is rapidly developing with the progress of the Chamber of Commerce farm bureau's campaign to popularize the Southern brands in Memphis. Thousands of housewives have tried out the Southern butter in the past week and there has been nothing but satisfaction expressed at the quality. The local wholesale distributors had to have 1,600 pounds to fill their orders Saturday, which was an increase of 500 pounds over the average per day sales for the remainder of the week. Demonstrations were resumed Monday, one being given before the Salon circls. The schedule for the remainder of the week is as follows: May 13—Snowden Farent Teachers' association and A. B.
